

Managing Ambulatory Health Care I: Introductory Course for Physicians in Community Health Centers

October 4–7, 2010
Boston, MA

Register Today

Program Agenda

Having been completed by over one thousand physicians and consistently highly rated, Managing Ambulatory Health Care I: Introductory Course for Physicians in Community Health Centers (MAHC) will help you guide your health center through times of uncertainty and change.

Participants from the 2009 iteration of Managing Ambulatory Health Care had the following to say about the program:

Program Content:

"The sections on interpersonal skills, communications, and negotiations were invaluable and immediately applicable to day to day activities."¹

Program Environment:

"This was an invaluable opportunity to share problem solving strategies with colleagues in comparable situations."²

Program Outcomes:

Build your own custom Harvard program >> LEARN MORE

Which program will best benefit you? Find out >> PROGRAM FINDER

follow CCPE on >>

Featured Harvard Programs

Sept. 20 - 24, 2010
Forces of Change: New Strategies for the Evolving Health Care Marketplace

Oct. 31 - Nov 5, 2010
Leadership Strategies for Evolving Health Care Executives

Jan 24 - 28, 2011
 May 16 - 20, 2011
Leadership Strategies for Information Technology in Health Care: A Certificate Program

"I anticipate decreasing costs in the clinic by at least 20% by increasing efficiency and encouraging optimal work by others in the clinic by inspiring them."³

Program Faculty:

"The program's faculty was excellent, available, and inspiring!"⁴

Learn more about this program

Be sure to mention your reference code: MAHC10-EM02.

For a complete list of topics and faculty, or to register, visit: <http://www.hsph.harvard.edu/ccpe/>
email: contedu@hsph.harvard.edu
call: 617-384-8692

1. Rina Ramirez, MD, Medical Director, Zufall Health Center, Dover, NJ
2. Michele Simoneaux, MD, Associate Medical Director, Tulane Community Health Center, New Orleans, LA
3. David Escamilla, MD, Physician/ Lead Provider, Comm Unity Care, Austin, TX
4. Giuleppina Romano-Clarue, MD, Chief of Pediatrics, Chelsea MGH

Unsubscribe or update your email address.

David A. Shore, PhD | Associate Dean and Executive Director | Center for Continuing Professional Education

Harvard School of Public Health | 677 Huntington Avenue | Boston, MA 02115