

IMIA 2010 Conference Registration is Open!

Early Bird Registration Rates Available
Just 3 More Weeks!

2010 International Medical Interpreters Conference
Ensuring Patient Safety for Language Minority Patients
- A New Standard of Care -

September 3-5, 2010
The Joseph B. Martin Conference Center at Harvard Medical School
Boston, Massachusetts USA

This year promises to be a very special conference with a lot of resources and tools being offered to medical interpreters. While in the past few years the IMIA has held its conferences at hotels, this year we made the conscious decision to move away from a hotel and focus on a more academic learning environment. We are extremely pleased with our venue location and if you want to take a peak go to <http://www.theconfcenter.hms.harvard.edu/>.

This year we are also encouraging more providers to present on specialized medical terminology workshops to better prepare interpreters for national certification.

Take advantage of the early bird rates by registering before April 30th, 2010!

To register go to:

<http://www.imiaweb.org/conferences/confreg2010.asp>.

For Conference Information please visit:

<http://www.imiaweb.org/conferences/2010conference.asp>.

IMIA Roommate & Carpool Connection Blog - New this year!

<http://imiconnection.blogspot.com/> - you may post messages if you are looking for someone to room or carpool with.

For more information please email IMIAAnnualConference@gmail.com.

--